Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

According to press despatches the Rasses of Ethiopia are about to engage their forces in a major battle with Italian troops. The battle is expected momentarily. The Rasses are apparently appropriately named. Either they are razzing the Italians or harassing them much of the time. Pardon, please.

Il Duce threatens and the League of Nations hesitates. They can never be quite sure whether he means to fight or not, when the oil supply is ordered cut off. None of them want a world war, not even England. Il Duce with his back against the wall, apparently reasons with the French king, who said: "After me, the deluge." If Mussolini falls, he means that others shall plunge with him into the same ruin.

The Russian Cathedral Choir opens a new door in the temple of music. The recitatives of the Greek church are extremely like those of the Roman church. The "Ave Maria" was very like the Catholic. It was in the secular music particularly that a glimpse of Russia's traditional love of music was revealed. In these lively and often boisterous choruses, was noted a gaiety that is seldom associated with Russian character. Melodies suddenly interrupted with shouts, repetition of rhymes that sounded curiously like: "Diggery, diggery dock, the mouse ran up the clock," and comic phrases of choral glee, that end with a gay halloo, these talented singers drew from their bag of tricks to amuse the big audience in Sacramento Memorial auditorium Wednesday night.

The drys are almost ready to launch another attack on the wets. Beginning with the White House, they have asked President Roosevelt to ban all liquor from the presidential table. Pointing to the "tragic results" of appeal they call attention to the mounting death rate on the nation's highways, due to drunken driving. While they do not refer to California, E. Raymond Cato, head of the state traffic patrol, states that the death rate from drunken driving this year is 20 per cent above last, and last year was almost double that of prohibition days. They also point accusingly to the promise made by Roosevelt that the saloon would not come back, and to the fact that, though it was solemnly promised bootlegging would cease, as a matter of record there has been no diminution in illegal liquor traffic. It looks as if the liquor interests would have to do their own policing, or else—

NEWMONT BEGINS EXPLORATION OF NORTH BANNER

It is reported that the Newmont company has taken a lease and bond on the North Banner, Woodville, and Janes mine properties which lie to the north and adjoin the Lava Cap mine, southeast of Nevada City. Several men under the supervision of the Murchie mine management, a Newmont property, are cleaning out an old tunnel and workings in order to prospect the properties.

PONDEROSA WAY, 650 MILES LONG, COMPLETED

Arno B. Cammerer, the director of the National Park Service, announced in San Francisco that the firebreak some 650 miles in length extending along the Sierra Nevada roothills from the Pit River in the north to the Kern River east of Bakersfield virtually has been completed by Civilian Conservation Corps workers.

The huge fire-break, named the Ponderosa Way, is from fifty to 200 feet wide and has a trail or road, throughout its entire length. Its purpose not only is to check forest fires but to provide a cleared space from where they can be fought.

More than 4,500 CCC men have worked on the project in the last eighteen months.

ANOTHER CUSTOM MILL

It is reported L. W. Cheney, superintendent of the Gracey mine, southeast of Nevada City, has decided to operate his mill as a custom mill. James Kistle is to be in charge of the reduction of ore. The 10-stamp mill is equipped with a flotation and concenerating units and plans are to keep the plant running steadily on ore from the mine and custom ore.

ROTARY CLUB VIEWS TRANSAMERICA FILM

Rickard Hough, representing the Transamerica Corporation, was introduced yesterday at the meeting of the Nevada City Rotary Club by Horace Curnow, chairman of the day. Mr. Hough displayed the film: "Transamerica," giving a lecture on the history, the activity affiliations and subsidiaries of this great corporation, as the film unrolled.

MORE ACCIDENTS ON RURAL ROADS THAN IN CITIES

(By RALPH H. TAYLOR)

Death rides the highways of rural California more recklessly and disastrously than the congested, traffic-tangled streets of California cities!

During last year, the motor vehicle death toll on country roads and highways shot far ahead of metropolitan traffic fatalities for the first time in the state's history.

And at the end of the year, rural areas, counting their dead, faced an alarming total of 1464 killed, in addition to thousands of maimed and injured. Deaths in accidents on city streets for the same period totaled 1341.

Such are the challenging findings of the State Department of Motor Vehicles following a state-wide survey of traffic accidents to determine causes and fix responsibility for the state's appalling motor death roll.

Of vital importance to California's country districts is the conclusion reached by the state department that "During the last three years the brunt of the problem has been moving to the rural areas."

The greater percentage of motor vehicle accidents, the study revealed occurred in the cities, but only 5.1 per cent of the city collisions resulted in fatalities, while 15.9 per cent of the accidents outside of the metropolitan districts were death crashes.

And the explanation of the three-to-one higher death ratio on the open road, according to the investigators, lies in the fact that rigid city speed limits act as a curb on recklessness, while open country is taken as an invitation to "hit it up." As conclusive evidence of the soundness of this analysis, the state survey disclosed that approximiately 65 per cent of all motor vehicle fatalities occur in collisions at speeds in excess of 45 miles per hour.

"Seldom, if ever, is there a death in a traffic accident that involves a collision of a vehicle traveling 20 miles per hour or less," the report states. "Fatalities increase in something like geometric proportion upward with the speed of the vehicle at the time of the accident." Then, in recommendation, the report asserts: "Motor vehicle fatalities in California can be reduced from ten to 25 per cent within a year as soon as excessive speed can be effectively checked."

In accidents involving two or more vehicles, the survey disclosed that 27.5 per cent of the crashes involved a collision between trucks and passenger cars; 2.7 per cent involved collisions between two trucks, or other freight vehicles, and 40.4 per cent passenger cars only.

"These data suggest that the collision involving freight vehicles are more numerous than they should be," according to the findings of T. H. Dennis, state highway maintenance engineer, "for freight vehicles are approximately 15 per cent of all registered vehicles, yet they are directly involved in 30.2 per cent of the accidents studied.

"Clearly, an examination of these accidents is in order."

Throwing still further light on the state's highway accident problem, which claimed 2,805 dead and 45,153 injured last year, the survey brought forth that accidents involving drunken drivers or drunken pedestrians increased 20 per cent during the twelve-month period.

SCHOOL TRAFFIC PATROL HAS NEW COATS, CAPS

Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post, American Legion, presented the four Washington grammar school traffic officers of this city with new raincoats and caps and the boys appear in full uniform when the first rain occurs. The cap has a cape to protect the boys from the storm and cold. The traffic uniforms are all white. The patrols are changed twice a year, those on duty this semester are Hal Draper, Jr., Bob Carr, Elsworth Pingaree, and Lubrun Williams. Principal Walter Carlson believes the training of the traffic patrol officers and in fact the whole school is of great benefit as it makes the children traffic conscious.

The attendance at Washington grammar school is considerably improved, many children have returned to school after recovering from measles or mumps.

CARE OF CITY GARBAGE IS BEFORE COUNCIL

The city council held its regular meeting last night and attended to the routine business.

Attorney Frank Finnegan presented two men from Stockton to the council who offered to take care of the disposal of the garbage of Nevada City. They offered to give the city ten per cent of all gross receipts if they were given the contract. The matter is to be considered by the city council and a decision will be made at a later meeting. If such a contract is let every house in the city would be required to have a covered garbage can.

MARY ANN HICKS LAID TO REST THURSDAY

Mass was held at St. Canice church yesterday morning for the repose of the soul of the late Mrs. Mary Ann Hicks. Rev. Father O'Reilly officiated. After the mass interment took place in the Catholic cemetery in Nevada City. Acting as pall bearers for the deceased were: Ben Tonella, William J. Coughlin, George H. Calanan, Ed. W. Schmidt, E. J. Kilroy, Marshall W. Giselman.

Mrs. Hicks passed away Tuesday morning after an illness of several weeks at the age of 77 years. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morgan of the Cherokee section and is one of the last of those pioneers who were born on the ridge in the fifties. In 1880 she was married to the late William H. Hicks and in 1889 the family moved to Nevada City. Se is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Martha Dillon of Nevada City, and a son, Norman Hicks of Sacramento.

Mr. Will C. Fouyer, local traffic officer who has been ill for several weeks in Jones Memorial Hospital, Grass Valley, has so far recovered that his family expects him home this week end.

NEW TRUCK PURCHASED BY CITY HAS ARRIVED

A new truck for the city arrived yesterday and was immediately put into service by the superintendent of streets, Herb Hallett. The truck is an Indiana two-ton dump truck and was badly needed by the city in fulfilling its share in the several WPA projects now going forward.

HIGH STUDENTS WIN HONORS IN SCHOLARSHIP

High school students who won scholarship honors in the second test period for the term were yesterday announced: Those who won membership in the California scholastic Federation were: Ruth Godfrey, John Harding, Ross Hughes, Irma Hurst, Jean Martz, Mary Martz, Amy Lou McCraney, Marian Mohr, Lucy Proctor, Robert Proctor, Joyce Stortroen, Vernon Williams.

Those admitted to the ten point honor role were as follows: Charles Alford, Roxanne Boggs, Gerald Coke, Edna Doolittle, Vella Flindt, Fred Garrison, June Hawke, Adele Joerschke, Thelma Maempe, David McCraney, Bernice McQuay, Oscar Odegaard, Alberta Walters.

AWARDS TO BE GIVEN FOR MUSIC PRACTICE

A new idea in the form of recognition pins for outstanding application has been announced for the music department of the Nevada City high school by L. E. Sweeney, band and orchestra leader. Feeling that awards for hard work should not be confined to the physical education department alone, the music department is making plans for the presentation of two gold pins to the two students who, at the end of the school year, have turned in the highest daily average of practice hours.

Practice on any instrument is the foundation of good playing and it is felt that such awards should be an inspiration to those who are studying some musical instrument at the high school.

The present standing of the ten highest in daily average practice time as announced by L. E. Sweeney is as follows: Evelyn Bailey, 62; Evelyn Lotz, 60; Amy Lou McCrane, 46; Dick Stevens, 42; Don Thomas, 42; Ruth Curnow, 41; Elma Eden, 41; Ernest Young, 41; Margaret Stevens, 40; Todd Bonnar, 40. The numerical rating refers to the number of minutes of actual practice daily.

Such an award system as this enables all high school musicians to have an equal opportunity in working for the high honors. Whether a student is merely beginning on an instrument or is an advanced student does not effect the rating of the players.

CHRISTMAS TREE TO BE IN NATIVE DAUGHTERS PARK

The committee to take charge of the "White Christmas" met at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday and formulated their plans.

The forest service will contribute the tree, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company linemen will set up and wire the tree which will be placed in Native Daughters Park on Broad street. The high school will be asked to furnish the music and the grammar school children will present a program.

The school children will bring their white wrapped gifts for the less fortunate ones and it is hoped that there will be enough cash donations to furnish a treat of a bag of candy to each school child. Contributions may be left at the office of the Morning Union or the Nevada City Nugget.

HUDSON MINE

A small crew is employed in reopening the old workings of the Hudson mine in the Rough and Ready district under Harold Parr and F. Fippin, who have the bond and lease on the property. The property holds good promise and extensive explorations are planned.

OUTDOOR XMAS TREES URGED FOR NEVADA CITY

Mrs. C. E. Parsons, one of the directors of the Outdoor Christmas Tree Association, wishes to remind the citizens of Nevada City that last year Nevada City ranked first in the United States in the number of outdoor Christmas trees per capita population. This is a very fine record and Nevada City has had considerable publicity because of it.

All citizens of the city who can are urged to light an out door Christmas tree this year.

Because of her seven hills Nevada City is an unusually beautiful setting for the outdoor Christmas tree and it is hoped that this year we will have many visitors who will see them.

Mr. Clarence Pratt of San Francisco, head of the Outdoor Christmas Tre Association, last season expressed a desire to see the trees on the Nevada City hills and said if possible he would come to see them this year. An invitation will be extended to him.

Mr. Pratt started the outdoor tree movement as a conservation movement to save so many thousands of trees from being cut during the Christmas season. The idea has not only helped the conservation movement but has become a means of broadening the Christmas viewpoint, it has an outward giving impulse as it extends greetings and gives beauty to those beyond ones immediate group of friends.

TURKEY FOR FIREMEN

Hose Company No. 1, of Nevada City met in their quarters on Broad street last evening and enjoyed a delicious turkey and raviola banquet at their monthly meeting.

Tony Rore was chairman of the refreshment committee and he was assisted by his wife, and sister in law, Mrs. Marvin Weeks, in preparing one of the finest dinners served in some time.

TWELVE NEVADA CITY BOYS WILL ATTEND MEETING

Ten delegates, representing the Nevada City high school, will leave Saturday morning to attend the Nineteenth Boys' Conference to be held at Oroville this year. This conference, covering a two day period, is sponsored by the Oroville union high school and the Community Y. M. C. A. and has chosen as its theme this year, "Score."

Taylor Douthit, former Big League baseball player on the New York Yankees is among the speakers who will address the boys from northern California high schools at the gathering. Also on the speakers list are Dr. George C. Jensen, principal of the Sacramento high school and Fred R. Morrow, College Student Pastor of the First Congregational church in Berkeley. One student speaker from each high school delegation will also address the group, the speaker from Nevada City being Oscar Odegaard, Jr. Discussion periods held during the course of the convention will give an opportunity for all present to express their opinions on current problems.

F. M. Duckles, chairman of these annual conferences, invited a delegation of ten from this city, and the following were chosen to attend. Oscar Odegaard, student speaker; Walter Warnecke, student body president; Ray Wilde, yell leader 1934 convention; Dick Stevens, president 1934 convention; Bill Polkinghorn; Mervin Doolittle; John Kron; Fred Garrison; Peter Orzalli; Ben Sweeney, alumnus delegate; and Principal H. E. Kjorlie, leader of the local group.

Last year, the convention was held at the Nevada City high school, the invitation being accepted by the combined group the year previous. This is the fourth consecutive year that the Nevada City high school has sent a delegation to the convention, and the first time a group of this size has attended.

PARACHUTES TO AID FOREST FIRE FIGHTERS NEXT

Whether spectators of future forest fires will be thrilled to see a picked company of forest rangers leap from airplanes and drop with parachutes to the fire line depends upon tests now being carried on at the Ogden airport.

The latest device to be tried out by the Forest Service in its annual battle with the red enemy is a new type of parachute which will land the forest ranger near the fire line direct from an airplane without the bother of walking or riding from the nearest landing field. Having used planes to deliver food and equipiment to forest fire fighters, the air-minded foresters have invented a quick releasing safety harness, and have added a one and a half inch diameter tube to the perimeter of the parachute which when inflated causes a quick opening upon release. To further minimize free falling distance the firemen descends through an aperture in the airplane floor down a light weight ladder until suspended in the parachute shroud lines. The pilot releases him at the right moment and his weight draws the parachute from the container in the ship's floor.

So far only limited proof of the practicability of this idea is available in the form of 34 consecutive successful drops of a 165 pound dummyand two deliveries of a man at a elevation of from 400 to 150 feet above the ground.

Mr. J. F. White, superintendent of the Mt. View mine near Washington passed through Nevada City on Tuesday enroute to the property after a few days spent in Southern California on business.

Trucks Are Blamed

The Santa Cruz News, in a recent issue, described an instance of traffic congestion on the highway from that city to Los Gatos caused by "trucks with trailers attached, loaded with lumber or other heavy freight."

Owing to the nature of the grade, these trucks had to slow up from six to eight miles an hour, while the many curves on this road made practically an impassable barrier for passenger cars behind the trucks.

Commenting on this condition the News said:

"The only cure for this situation, witnessed day after day on our highways, is to set traffic hours at night or in the early morning for truck traffic.

"A man having important business requiring him to get on his way should not have to tag behind a crawling truck and trailer loaded with lumber or other heavy freight."

Scores of Sacramento motorists, says the Sacramento Bee, who found their trip to and from the California-Stanford game at Palo Alto delayed by similar truck-caused congestion in the Altamont Pass will echo this sentiment.

No one wants to do an injustice to the trucking companies, whether large or individual in character.

But the highways primarily were built for the use of that portion of the public which does not utilize the same for the purpose of private profit.

The motorists also are in the vast majority. And the time will come when the principle of the "greatest good for the greatest number" will have to be applied to the highways.

SHOP WINDOWS REFLECT CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Nevada City business firms have started to decorate their stores and shops in preparation for the Yuletide holidays. Among the first noted is a gaily decorated little Christmas tree in the window of the Variety Store on Commercial street.

Dickerman's Drug store on Broad street is resplendent in artistic decorations of blue crepe paper with silver stars. The windows feature a fine display of toiletries, men's cases, attractive white and flowered bonbon dishes and vases, Christmas cards and wrapping paper.

The Racket Store believes in the motto "Shop Early," and have an array of toys, glass ware, fancy work, cards, besides many useful articles that are drawing throngs each day.

AUTO DEATH OR INJURY AWAITS ONE IN THREE

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 5.—California's public school system today swung solidly into line in support of the crusade to reduce the state's staggering toll of motor vehicle fatalities, with an announcement by Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, that courses in traffic safety and safe driving will shortly be added to the school curriculum.

Plans are now being worked out with E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California Highway Patrol, to train a special staff of state traffic officers who will assist in inaugurating the new safety courses, Kersey said.

Superintendent Kersey's statement follows:

"The gravity of our traffic accident problem can no longer be ignored, nor can the public schools ignore their responsibility in meeting the problem.

"Thousands of our young men and women are being killed or permanently crippled in the reckless slaughter on our streets and highways before they have even reached adult years.

"It is a shocking but factual statement that one out of every three children in California is destined to be killed or injured in a motor vehicle accident before the end of his normal life span—unless drastic action is taken to reduce the present accident ratio!

"Speeding and recklessness, together with drunken driving and a tremendous increase in trucks and busses on our highways, have all been serious factors in adding to traffic casualties.

"Adding to the significance of the problem from the standpoint of public education is the fact that the most dangerous age for drivers is from 16 to 19, according to recent studies of motor vehicle accident records.

"The State Department of Education hopes to render valuable assistance in the campaign of safety education which has been undertaken by the California Safety Council and the many local safety committees.

"In cooperation with E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California Highway Patrol, we have been working for some time on a program of special training for state traffic officers who will direct the inauguration of safety courses in the high schools. It is also hoped that this program, in modified form, can be extended to the grade schools, as we are convinced that proper habits of safe driving and a recognition of rules of the road, gained in youth, will have a tremendous effect in promoting safety and curbing reckless driving.

"The special staff of traffic officers, when they have been trained as instructors, will, in turn, assist in training teachers in the schools who will then take over the work in safety instruction. They will also aid in the development of special textbook material dealing with traffic regulations and rules of safe driving.

PRODUCTION, PAYROLL, EMPLOYMENT INCREASE

In the "Monthly Review of Business Conditions" of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco an interesting summary of national conditions, prepared by the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System states that industrial production increased more than seasonally in October and there was also a considerable advance in factory employment and payrolls. There was a continuous inflow of gold from abroad and an increase in bank deposits.

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION AND EMPLOYMENT

Volume of output at factories and mines, as measured by the Board's seasonally adjusted index of industrial production, increased from 89 per cent of the 1923-1925 average in September to 94 per cent in October reflecting larger output in a wide range of industries. Automobile production, which had been at a low level in September when preparations were being made for the manufacture of new models, increased rapidly during October and the early part of November. At steel mills, activity increased slightly in this period contrary to the usual seasonal tendency, and in the third week of November was at about 54 per cent of capacity. Lumber production showed little change. Among the industries producing nondurable manufactures, the principal changes in output were increases of considerably more than the usual seasonal amount at cotton mills, woolen mills, and meat packing establishments. At mines, output of bituminous coal was in larger volume than in other recent months and output of crude petroleum continued to increase.

Factory employment, which ordinarily shows little change at this season, increased considerably between the middle of September and the middle of October, reflecting substantial increases in the industries producing durable manufactures. The most marked expansion was in the automobile industry and there were smaller increases at railroad repair shops and in the iron and steel, machinery and nonferrous metals industries. Employment at canning factories showed a considerable decline, largely of a seasonal character.

Total value of construction contracts awarded, as reported by the F. W. Dodge Corporation, showed a considerable increase in October, followed by a slight decline in the first half of November. In this six-week period total contracts were substantially larger than a year ago reflecting marked increases both ADD TO PRODUCTION PAYROLL in residential building and in other types of construction, but the volume is still at a relatively low level.

DISTRIBUTION

Railroad freight car loadings increased by a considerable amount from September to October, reflecting principally larger shipments of coal and miscellaneous freight. In the early part of November, car loadings were at a lower level than in October, chiefly as a consequence of seasonal development. Department store sales, which usually increase at this season, showed little change from September to October on a daily average basis, and the Board's seasonally adjusted index declined from 81 per cent of the 1923-1925 average to 77 per cent.

COMMODITY PRICES

The general level of wholesale commodity prices, as measured by the index of the Bureau of Labor statistics was slightly lower in October and the early part of November than in the latter part of September, reflecting reductions in the prices of farm products and foods offset in part in the index by an advance in prices of other commodities, particularly hides and leather products, and textiles. Prices of hogs and pork showed a decrease, as is usual at this season, while cotton advanced.

BANK CREDITS

Excess reserves of member banks increased further by $190,000,000 during the five week period ended November 20, reflecting a continued inflow of gold from abroad. At the end of the period excess reserves were at a new high level of over $3,000,000,000.

Total loans and investments of reporting banks in 101 leading cities increased by $190,000,000 during the five weeks ended November 20, reflecting principally an increase in holdings, of United States Government securities. Adjusted demand deposits of these banks showed an increase of $550,000,000 for the period.

The call money rate on New York Stock Exchange loans was increased from 1-4 of 1 per cent to 3-4 of 1 per cent in the last week of October. At the same time the rate on time loans was increased from 1-4 of 1 per cent to 1 per cent, but few loans have been made. Other money rates have remained at former low levels.

FREAK REGION ON COLO. RIVER

BERKELEY, Dec. 5.—Discovery of a quantity of wash gold on a bench above the stream, the presence of a sub-arctic vegetation and "the most wind-swept, sand-blasted, sun-scorched inferno out side of Death Valley," in the same region, a freak storm of hurricane fierceness that tore at river and canyon, all in a brief expanse along the little known reaches of the Colorado River. These are a few of the things described by Bayne Beauchamp, young graduate of the University of California, in a report he is now compiling as one of the leaders of an exdepition down the Colorado last summer.

According to Beauchamp, a fresh meat famine encountered by the expedition prompted some of the biologists in the party to fry and eat rat meat rolled in cornmeal. Beauchamp explained that they were pack rats and not the ordinary house variety, and that there is considerable difference between the two.

The gold discovery was nothing to get excited about, according to Beauchamp, as the flakes were so fine it was difficult to get much color in the pan, even after a long effort. The important feature of the discovery is that it was made in a country known to be poorly mineralized.

The Arctic vegetation was encountered in a trek up Navajo Mountain, varieties of thick moss such as those found along the Yukon being particularly abundant. At the summit the party found a clearing made by Kit Carson's men and a crumbling signal station built by the famous old scout during his campaigns against the Indians. "The most wind-swept, sun-blasted inferno" was in Cliff Canyon, which lies beneath a western spur of Navajo, and but a short distance from the famous Rainbow Arch described by Theodore Roosevelt as "the world's greatest natural wonder."

What Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Our Scotch Neighbor

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—When I first knew him, he was plain John Buchan, writing the best Scotch novels since Robert Louis Stevenson. Then, in 1918, he was Colonel John Buchan of the British wartime press bureau, shrewd, kindly, and deft, handling a bunch of rampaging American correspondents as gently as though they were so many new-laid eggs and he, personally, had laid every last one of them. When he became Sir John Buchan, a lot of us said: "Well, he earned his honors but no title ever can swell that Scot's head." Now, at Ottawa, the flags fly and the cannons roar for Baron Tweedsmuir, governor general of our noble neighbor nation to the north, but, if his lordship doesn't mind, I'd like, personally, to go on thinking of him as my friend, John Buchan, a very great gentleman.

Irvin S. Cobb

They'll like him up there, we're going to like him down here. And, If any of you Canadians has any doubt as to his diversified talents, wait till you see him casting a trout-fly across a likely pool.

Casualties in the News

CASUALTIES seem to be almost even as between the New York gang war and the Ethiopian war, but the New York dispatches make spicier reading. They print the names and addresses of the deceased.

Borah's hat is in the ring. It may be distinguished from some of the other hats in the ring by the fact that his is not a size six and five-eighths.

So there's to be another new "empire" hatched in the Orient, with China furnishing the eggs and Japan the incubator. This certainly is a great year for weaker nations to wake up of a morning under a strange flag.

At Panama, a deadly serpent bit an army lieutenant. He took serum and went to a party, and the snake died in 20 minutes. Whereas, heretofore lieutenants have been regarded as comparatively harmless.

* * *

Fashions for Men

TRUE to recent promise, we now offer our winter fashion hints for American men:

Lounge effects will be in evidence on park benches.

The morning suit will be used throughout the day. Also every morning.

Unless prosperity returns mighty soon, expect a continuance of the high polish noted during recent years in connection with the seats of blue serge pants. Elbows also will display a bright sheen or patina.

Trousers may or may not be turned up at the bottoms. It depends on whether wearers are sensitive about fringes or just naturally don't give a dern.

There will be very little change—in many cases, no change whatsoever—in the pockets of business suits.

However, the careful dresser will ask the tailor to install a special receptacle for carrying tax notices in. A favored perfume will be attar of moth balls.

The Family Influence

SIX members of the Virginia-born Lady Astor's fam'[illegible]e now in the British parliament, if you include Lady Astor herself—and you'd better. So hereafter her ladyship can rest the voice occasionally and there'd still be an Astor to carry on.

She's not like some equally determined conversationalists, though. When she speaks, she has something to say—And says it.

On the other hand, only three members of the Lloyd-George household won seats at the recent English election.

Maybe it's a good thing to elect a whole family group, by the crate-load, as it were. It saves having to remember a lot of different names.

Now you take our congress, wherein always there are so mony names that don't mean a thing on earth except for roll call and salary purposes. Often, toward the end of a congress, the Congressional Record is merely a symposium of the last words of the unburied dead.

Being an Actor

A MAN spends half a lifetime trying to learn to write, and, if he succeeds, he's lucky: and if he doesn't, he's like a fellow whose wife is being talked about—probably the last man in town to hear the bad news.

But, overnight, you can get to be an actor—at least you can get the actor's viewpoint. For instance, I've just finished a very bitter argument at the studio over the next picture we're going to shoot. There's a director who insists on cluttering up the show with a lot of other people. He's also very tiresome about dragging in a plot.

I still feel I have the right idea about a proper vehicle for the display of one's theatrical talents.

It's a two-hour monologue, interrupted only by tumultuous applause.

STATE PIONEERS OF EDUCATION

(By ROY W. CLOUD)
State Executive Secretary
California Teachers Association

Editor's Note: California's public school system is regarded as one of the two outstanding system of the United States, New York State alone challenging comparison. This series of ten articles is intended to familiarize friends of the schools and the public generally with outstanding pioneers who have contributed to the development, since 1849, of California's pre-eminent public school system.

JOSEPH LE CONTE

Joseph Le Conte, who became the most beloved member of the instructional staff of the University of California was born in Liberty County, Georgia, February 26, 1823. He was of Hugenot descent. Enrolling at Franklin College, Georgia he was graduated with the class of 1841. He received his medical degree at the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York in 1845 and for four years practiced medicine at Macon, Georgia.

Believing that his life work should be along other lines, he entered Harvard Universtiy to take a course in geology. There he was one of the three in the first class to be taught in America by Louis Agassiz, perhaps the greatest instructor in the history of America's collegiate institutions.

Joseph Le Conte was one of the first three professors to be chosen for service at the University of California when that institution was founded in 1868. The other two were his brother, John, and Martin Kellogg.

Ac a student Joseph Le Conte developed a keen interest in geology, biology and other kindred subjects and upon graduation from Harvard in 1851 became associated with Dr. Agassiz in his expeditionary work.

While his subject at the University of California was geology, he was a student of evolution and attained eminence in that field of activity. Joseph Le Conte was the first in collegiate education to break away from the idea that subjects and grades were all important and who placed the welfare of his students above all other considerations. He attracted the attention of fellow educators throughouh the country.

Dr. David Starr Jordan made the following statement concerning higher education in California as he observed it shortly after coming to this state:

"In 1892 in the University of California there were numerous teachers of ability and high character. Best known and best beloved was Dr. Joseph Le Conte, professor of biology. Le Conte had been one of the three Harvard students who composed Agassiz's original class in America. He had a singularly fine disposition, a lucid literary style and a deep feeling for nature."

A custom which began in the early 80's and continued until his death was the observance of Joseph Le Conte's birthday at the university. Annually on February 26, the students contributed to a fund for the purchase of flowers. Dr. Le Conte's lecture room was literally a bank of the choicest blooms and all during the day students and professors thronged his lecture room to wish him well.

This venerable educator was devoted to outdoor life and was a companion of those two great California naturalists, John Muir and Galen Clark. The Sierra Club shrine in Yosemite Valley was dedicated to his memory and is known as the Le Conte Memorial Lodge.

One of the most restful glades of Oakes at the University of California bears his name and the finest of all the oaks in this particular section is known as the Le Conte Oak.

Joseph Le Conte made a genuine contribution to the educational history of California by giving to the students who passed through his courses a love of truth and a scientific outlook upon life. He was small in stature but great in intellect and devotion to duty.

Joseph Le Conte died in the valley which he loved so well, Yosemite, on June 6, 1901.

PTA CARD PARTY TO AID KIDDIES XMAS TREE FUND

(By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE)

Up on the North San Juan Ridge the clubs, leagues, and individuals are cooperating with the P. T. A. to give the children of that section of Nevada County a happy Christmas party. And the folks up here are experiencing a great joy in their endeavor to bring happiness to the little ones of North San Juan and her sister towns. The ladies are busy with their needles and sewing materials, the school children contemplating the popping of corn and the stringing of cranberries while the menfolks are hurrying around to provide the where with all to make all these things possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Dare of Nevada City donated $1.50 toward the fruit and candy fund. The North San Juan Ridge Improvement League has rented their warm, spacious Twamley Hall in which to hold the party on the evening of December 20th. This league is also contributing the Christmas tree through the supervision of State Forester W. F. Sharp, as well as lights, candy and tree decorations. All of the teachers along the ridge are working together through the talents of their pupils to present an interesting program which will include recitations, plays and carols.

To make this children's party a huge success the North San Juan unit of the P. T. A. is giving a whist party in the schoolhouse this evening, December 6. This card party was scheduled to take place in Solaro's hall but on re-consideration it was decided the school building would be the logical setting for this affair.

Mrs. Amelia Cunningham of Willow Springs is donating a generous door prize. Mrs. Carrie Holland has donated a beautiful prize for the lady with the highest score. Mrs. Anna Bradbury, Mrs. Kern Fogarty and Mr. Lewis Woods has donated a handsome prize for the gentlemen's high score and Mrs. Mame Thompson has donated two useful consolation prizes. These prizes are on display at Woods butcher shop.

The schoolhouse is now equipped with two big stoves and no matter how cold the weather on the outside the whist players will be warm and comfortable within. At the door there will be a 25 cents admission charge which will include refreshments.

N. C. GOLDS WILL PLAY THE AUBURN CUBS SAT.

The Nevada City Golds basketball team will play their first league game with the Auburn Cubs in Armory Hall in Nevada City on Saturday, December 7, playing to start at 7:30.

The Nevada City Gold's B team will play the Nevada City high school A team.

Good scores have been made by the Nevada City Golds in two practice games, with the Koss Service Station team, and the Y. M. C. A. team, both of Sacramento. The boys have been practicing faithfully and feel confident of their success, in the coming event.

The first team will be chosen from Pierce, Verlod, Schroeder, forwards; Wright, Krasevac, centers; Macari, Hawk and Sheahan, guards. Mr. Jack Muir is coach and manager of the teams.

ELKS TO IMPROVE BIG CLUB ESTATE

Mr. Robert Gates of Nevada City received a message Wednesday from Mr. W. E. Soden, president of the Elks Association, Oakland, in which he stated word has come from the east to the effect that finances will be forthcoming on January first for purchasing the building and landing field, south of the Lava Cap mine, and construction of an 18 hole golf field together with a dam on Cripple Creek for the purpose of supplying water for the lake.

The surveying having been completed, the final contract for all grading and hauling, was given to Mr. Robert Gates of this city.

Mr. Soden further stated, "The project will bring many prominent people to Nevada County." The property was formerly owned by the Sportsmen and Hunting Club located near the Lava Cap mine southeast of this city. There are a large number of members of the former organization who will continue their interest in the new one.

ALASKA MINE

It is reported mining operations started at the Alaska mine at Pike City Wednesday morning. It is also stated several men have been employed in cutting lagging and 200 cords of wood, for the mine, during the last few weeks in preparation for the reopening of the property. Mr. R. C. Isenhauer, mining engineer of note, is in charge of the property, which is considered one of the richest in this section. A heavy flow of water encountered in mining operations years ago closed the property when rich highgrade ore had been blasted into. This water will have to be controlled by pumping or a drain tunnel.

GIRL'S DAMAGE SUIT UNDER ADVISEMENT

Juanita Booth's $25,000 damage suit against the City of Grass Valley filed as a result of injuries suffered when she fell out the door of an automobile which struck a hole in the pavement on West Main street, was taken under advisement Monday by Superior Judge Raglan Tuttle.

Miss Booth, 22, is employed in the Sacramento hospital. Her injuries from falling to the pavement out of the automobile, driven by Frank Jacobs last June 11th, included a fracture of the skull.

Dr. Carl P. Jones testified one arm will be permanently disabled and Miss Booth will probably feel the effects of the fracture of the skull for the remainder of her life.

Jacobs testified his car was not traveling more than thirty miles per hour when the cavity in the pavement was struck.

"THE DAWN RIDER" AT THEATRE TONIGHT

The question has often been asked "Are present-day Western pictures true representations of the colorful West of two or three decades past?" John Wayne, star of the Lone Star Production "The Dawn Rider," which comes to the Nevada Theatre tonight says emphatically, "They certainly are."

Wayne, who has made intensive research into the annals of the old frontier days in order that his characterizations may be absolutely accurate, continues: "The rip-roaring, gun-toting, devil-may-care punchers of that period were wholly unaware of any law except that which said 'if you want to live to a ripe old age, keep you six-gun handy.' In those blood-spattering days, a man gained a reputation, not for honesty, truthfulness, or industry, but for a quick draw, hard-riding and ability with his two fists."

John adds, "The Dawn Rider' is a good example of what I mean. In the early sequences of the picture, my father is murdered by a gang of desperadoes, and when I pursue them they shoot me down mercilessly. Later, after I have regained my health, it is necessary for me to take the law into my own hands and start a lone search for the criminals.

"When the evidence that I have gathered points to a respected citizen of the town, he challenges me to a duel and unbeknown to me, removes the cartridges from my gun and hides his accomplices around the spot where the duel is to take place. Of course, it would be unfair to tell you how I managed to get safely out of that crisis, but it goes to show you that the old adage 'All's fair in love and war' surely held true in the pioneer West."

John Wayne is supported by an excellent cast in "The Dawn Rider," including lovely Marion Burns.

Mr. Brunage of the Bank of America at Auburn was present at the showing and was partly responsible for the bringing of the film to the school.

This is the same picture that was given for citizens a short time ago at a special showing at the Nevada Theatre.
